

YOU WILL DRAW WATER JOYFULLY

Responsorial Song from Isaiah 12 for Reading 5, Easter Vigil
for Psalmist (Cantor), Assembly & Descant with Organ, Flute Duo & Guitar

TONY BARR

*You will draw water joyfully
from the fountain of living water.*

I sing the news of Life among us,
so be confident and have no fear!
In that Name find your strength and courage,
and come with joy to the living water.

In joyful song, we now draw water
from the wellspring of new life,
in thanksgiving for the One Who promises
to lead us safely to a land of bounty.

Stand for joy, and raise the news,
for the Messiah shall come our way!
Dance before us of what we longed for before us,
and all the weeping that darkness is over!

Sing of these glorious deeds, you people
and proclaim Justice to the world.
He is One Who protects the migrant,
Who brings life-giving waters to the stranger.

The Prophet Isaiah speaks of One Who will be the source of the expectations of Israel, Who will fulfill the hopes not only of Israel but of all humanity, the Justice who will appear on the earth. This longed-for Messiah would proclaim liberty to captives and a restoration of dignity to the oppressed.

Israel was born out of a migration experience, so the Wanderer become the hero of the prophet's story. In the later Scriptures, we find the Wanderer on a journey, joining two fellow wanderers on the road to Emmaus, whose hopes had been dashed by the death of their friend, who seemed to be both the fulfillment and a direct refutation of their messianic hopes and expectations. Yet as their eyes were gradually opened and understanding took root, they rejoiced in the certainty of good news delivered to them by this stranger.

We live at a time of repression, when the joyful people have been criminalized and repressed in their hopes for a life of dignity and freedom from the repressive regimes from which they flee. Each of these is a stranger, and each one has the capacity to enlighten us, to evangelize us to truths which we may not yet clearly see. All are entitled to share the living waters, and it is at this common fountain, perhaps a well in Samaria, where the streams may fall from our eyes.

This understanding has determined my approach to writing this texts from Isaiah, which we sing at the beginning of the Easter Vigil stories about liberation, the freedom to become who we were intended to be.
