

BLEST BE GOD

Responsorial Litany from Daniel 3 for Trinity Sunday A for Psalmists (Cantors), Schola & Assembly with Keyboard & Guitar

TONY BARR

Blest be God, the Holy and Strong One:

*Joy we bring and psalms we sing
praise unceasing to your Name.*

Blest be the glori'ous name which saves us:

Blest be God in the Temple, among Bless God whose kingdom spans heaven and earth:

Bless God, enthroned on the wings of the cherubim:

Blest be God, so radiant, magnificent:

Bless God in the heights of heaven:

Blest be God, the God of the living:

This Litany is a dialogue between the psalmist and the assembly, in which he or she gives voice to the Covenant in which we all gather.

The Verses of this litany may be sung by alternating psalmists or cantors, from the ambo, with the assembly affirming through our Refrain. The women of the choir have two descants, either or both of which may be sung together cumulatively as the litany approaches a climax.

The ritual dynamic of this piece has been expressed by Jodeph Gelinea as a trilogy between assembly, songleader and choir. The movement is conversation, and activity of listening to the call which is an echo in our spiritual DNA, and responding to that call as community, a People who have been called. God's presence is at the heart of this conversation and comes alive in our hearts and minds as we come face to face with the Deity and each other again, in song.
